In addition, the friends of Alderman Cives life and visor to old folias and puts the case from the Commers' Office, but the case from the Commers' Office, but the precinct police until o'clock last night, when he sent word the suicide over the telephone. Detentives were sent to the Kupfer apartments for information, but were un-and shot himself to a fit of despondency. The Knpfer family, consisting of Mr. twenty-two and eighteen years old, ocsupied apartments on the fourth floor of the Alvarado apartment house, at No. 211 Park avenue. Kupfer was a son-in-law of Samuel C. Boehm, the milkonaire wine importer, who has an office at No. 203 Broadway and lives at No. 5 East Eightleth street. For many years Kupfer was connected with the Business Not a Success. Abitious to engage in business on his own account he left the employ of his father-in-law about a year ago and established a hat factory in East Houston street. The stop was made against the advice of his relatives. Business was bad and Kupfer lost money he was compelled to borrow and aoon his diffi-culties began to weigh upon his micro-For three weeks previous to his death to had been unable to sleep more than Revolver is Missing. Revolver is Missing.

The revolver had disappeared when the detectives from the East Eighty-eighth street station got around to the house last night. Mrs. Kupfer says she has no idea what became of it. Dr. Lehane is reported to have said he sent the weapon to the Coroner's Office, but it has not been received chere.

Samuel Boehm and his son, Max, made every effort to keep the suicide secret. So eager were they that they excited suspicion and worked more publicity than would otherwise have accrued. The suicide was undoubtedly mentally deranged by his business troubles.
